

Concert Marks Organ Rededication

By BOB HOWDEN

The rededication of Juniata's historic Moller organ took place in grand style Oct. 11, as well-known organist Frederick Swann gave a concert on the instrument in Oller Hall.

Originally installed in the newly constructed Oller Hall in 1940, historical records reveal that plans for a new organ began as early as 1929, when Dr. M.G. Brumbaugh, president of Juniata, made inquiries to a number of organ companies. By 1939, President Charles C. Ellis and his son, Dr. Calvert N. Ellis, renewed the search for an organ to install in Oller.

Dr. Harold Gleason, then head of the organ department at Eastman School of Music in Rochester, N.Y., and Dr. Carl Weinrich, university organist at Princeton University, served as consultants for the organ project. After considerable deliberations, M.P. Moller, Inc. of Hagerstown, Md. was selected to build the new instrument.

Specifications were prepared by Dr. Weinrich and the late Richard O. Whitelegg, vice president and tonal director for Moller at that time. Whitelegg's reputation as an organ builder was worldwide, and Juniata's organ is considered to be an outstanding example of Whitelegg's work.

Restored This Year

The organ remained in Oller Hall for 41 years, where it was used extensively by students and staff. Last spring, the instrument was removed piece by piece, and returned to M.P. Moller for complete restoration. When it was reinstalled in Oller last June, it had been totally refurbished with complete releathering, new magnets and other action components. The pipes had been carefully cleaned, resoldered, rounded up and revoiced, and returned to their original glory.

Juniata's organ is a landmark instrument in Central Pennsylvania, embodying characteristics which were to become commonplace in organs only decades later. The college's Moller was the first in the area to use low wind pressure, almost straight manual divisions and so many independent mixtures.

The rededication concert by Swann received wide media attention, and attracted a large audience. The famed organist played selections by Reger, Bach, Mendelssohn and others.

Swann began studying piano at age six, and the organ at eight. He became a church organist at age 10, and began his recital career at 13.

received his master's degree from the School of Sacred Music of Union Theological Seminary.

Prior to his appointment as organist at New York's Riverside Church in 1957, Swann held positions in Chicago and New York, including acting organist and choirmaster of the Brick Presbyterian Church and assistant organist at St. Bartholomew's Episcopal Church, both in New York.

In 1966, Swann was named director of music and organist at the Riverside Church, and in 1972, was elected chairman of the organ department at the Manhattan School of Music.

In addition to his duties at Riverside and the Manhattan School, Swann presents concerts throughout the United States, Canada and Europe. He represented the United States as juror and recitalist at the 1977 International Organ Festival in St. Albans, England, and played two recitals at the International Congress of Organists, held in the United States for the first time.

Maintains Tradition

Ever since the Moller organ was installed, Juniata has made an effort to bring some of the finest organists in the country to campus.

This tradition dates back to the opening recitals, which were presented by the famous Belgian organist, Dr. Charles Courboin, at the time the organist at St. Patrick's Cathedral in New York, and by the late Virgil Fox, then head of the organ department at Peabody Conservatory in Baltimore.

Swann's rededication concert helped maintain that tradition. It provided the college community and area residents an excellent opportunity to hear a master musician perform on this historic organ.

Six New Members Elected to Board

The Board of Trustees has elected six new members as part of a college charter change increasing the size of the Board to a maximum of 40 members. The action came at the Board's annual fall meeting Oct. 10.

With the addition of the six, five of whom are Juniata alumni, Board membership stands at 34, three more than the minimum set in the charter change.

Dr. Binder noted that the charter change expanding the Board, made during the summer, will bring younger individuals to the Board. "We are also looking for geographic diversity, while at the same time adding new members," the president said.

The new Board members are Donovan R. Beachley, Jr. '47, of Hagerstown, Md.; Hon. Charles C. Brown, Jr. '59, of Bellefonte; John McN. Cramer '63, of Pittsburgh; George E. Crusier '52, of New Hope; Elmer G. Grant of State College; and Garry L. Pote '68, of New Canaan, Conn.

Beachley, whose father, Donovan R., Sr., has been a Board member since 1945, holds an M.B.A. degree from Massachusetts Institute of Technology. He is president of Beachley Furniture Co. of Hagerstown.

Currently chairman of the President's Development Council, Brown received his J.D. degree from New York University School of Law in 1962. He is President Judge of the Court of Common Pleas, Centre County.

Cramer is a partner in the Pittsburgh law firm of Reed, Smith, Shaw and McClay. He received his J.D. degree from Harvard School of Law in 1966.

Senior vice president and chief financial officer for Westvaco Corporation in New York City, Crusier holds an M.B.A. degree from the Wharton Graduate School of Business.

A graduate of Allegheny College in Meadville, Grant is president and chief executive officer of Central Counties Bank in State College. He is also on the Board of Trustees of Centre Community Hospital.

Pote is senior vice president of Shearson American Express, Inc. in New York City, and also holds an M.B.A. degree from the Wharton School.

In addition to naming new members, the Board granted emeritus status to two former members, Leroy S. Maxwell '36, of Waynesboro and Cecil E. Loomis of Macungie.

Maxwell, a partner in the law firm of Maxwell, Maxwell and Dick, served on the Board from 1961-64 and 1970 until his resignation last spring.

The retired chairman of the board of The Columbia Gas System, Inc., Loomis served on the Board from 1967 until his resignation Oct. 10.

Academic Year Begins with Address

President Frederick M. Binder marked the beginning of Juniata's 106th academic year Sept. 6, delivering the Opening Convocation Address and presenting students with several prestigious awards.

In his address, "America As An Empire," Dr. Binder followed the development of the American Empire through history, a topic which he noted, is often overlooked in high school and college history courses.

"The leaders of the American Revolution and the Founding Fathers of our Constitution understood the concept of Empire and Imperialism. Throughout the more than two centuries of our existence as a nation, to most of our leaders and to many of our citizens, the way of Empire has become a way of life," Dr. Binder said.

Citing America's numerous wars and conquests, Dr. Binder built the case for "America As An Empire," adding that "all this is not an indictment of our America. It is simply a summary of historical personages and events which too often are misinterpreted as accidents in time. What we are today, the greatest Empire the world has ever known, is not an accident."

By supplying numerous Third World countries with modern weaponry and technology, the American Empire continues to grow today, Dr. Binder emphasized.

"We tell the nations that peace is our passion, yet Congress is about to pass the largest so-called defense budget in history. We arm the Saudis, the Israelis, the Egyptians, and soon the Red Chinese. We have 1,000 military advisors in Saudi Arabia and 45,000 Americans there as teachers, technical experts and business persons, and hundreds more in Egypt, Pakistan and El Salvador. We station 400,000 troops abroad. Now, tell me that we are not an Empire," the president said.

Dr. Binder told the freshman class that these American "frontiers" are our international responsibility, and if properly controlled and respected, "should provide a balance of order in the world of anarchic sovereign states for this present decade, and for the decades ahead which belong to you."

The Opening Convocation also saw 10 students presented with six of the college's most prestigious scholarships.

D. Michael Craley of Red Lion, and Jacob M. Creps of Indiana, both seniors, were recipients of The C. Jewett Henry Memorial Fund scholarships.

Established by the Board of Trustees in 1980, the fund honors the late C. Jewett Henry '29, former Board chairman and prominent Huntingdon attorney. The scholarships are awarded to students who have completed three years of college, and have decided to pursue a career in law. Mrs. C. Jewett Henry presented the awards to Creps and Craley.

This year's William A. Schlichter Award was presented to Michael J. Ford, a senior from Richmond, Ind.

Honoring the late William A. Schlichter, a member of the class of 1971 until his death in September, 1969, the award is presented to a senior man on the basis of his record for the first three years at Juniata. Selection is based on Christian character, dedication to Juniata and promise of future usefulness. Ford received his award from Dr. Binder.

Martin H. Heine Memorial Fund scholarships were presented to Lori A. Keller and Elaine A. Timpe by Mrs. Martin H. Heine.

Established by family and friends, the fund honors the late Martin H. Heine, prominent Huntingdon business and civic leader. The scholarships are presented to students who have completed three years of college, and intend to pursue careers in business. Selection is based on meritorious achievement and character.

Both seniors, Miss Keller is from Port Trevorton and Miss Timpe is from Emerson, N.J.

Christine M. Muha of West Mifflin, Marcis M. Serio of Linthicum, Md. and Thomas M. Wilkinson of Warrington, all freshmen, were this year's recipients of The Croner Scholarships in Economics and Business Administration.

Established by Mr. and Mrs. Earl D. Croner (class of 1938) of Berlin, these awards, made for the freshman year only, are based on interest in studying business, personal motivation and enterprise. The awards were presented by Dr. Binder.

The Elizabeth Baily Thornbury Pre-Law Student Scholarship was presented to David D. Noon, a senior from Ashland. It is awarded to a student who plans to enter law school following graduation, whose grade point average is at least 3.2, and who has made positive contributions to campus life.

The award was established in the name of the late Elizabeth Bailey Thornbury '29, daughter of the late Hon. Thomas F. Bailey, president judge of Huntingdon County from 1916-36. Mrs. Thornbury's husband, Sedgely Thornbury, presented the award to Noon.

Cynthia G. Roop, a freshman from Roaring Spring, received the first annual Baker Peace Scholarship from Dr. Binder. The scholarship is presented to a member of the entering class who ranks in the upper 20 percent of his/her high school class, has above average SAT scores and demonstrates an interest in peace-related issues.

Halbritter Heads 81-82 ASF

Barry J. Halbritter '65 of Duncansville, has been named chairman of the 1981-82 Annual Support Fund (ASF) at Juniata. Halbritter is president and director of purchasing of Midstate Tool and Supply Inc., and president of Fender Mender Sales Inc., both in Altoona.

The goal of the 1981-82 ASF is $241,000, and is Juniata's 13th such effort. During the 12-year history of the ASF, gifts to the college have totaled more than $2 million.

Halbritter, who received his B.S. degree in business administration, has been active in many Juniata programs, and is currently a member of the President's Development Council.

In addition, he is active in numerous civic organizations. Halbritter is currently president of the Eldorado Kiwanis, vice president of the Board of Trustees and chairman of the Good Samaritan Fund of the Morrisons Cove Home and chairman of the construction committee at the Carson Valley Church of the Brethren.

Halbritter is also a member of the Altoona Area Chamber of Commerce, Altoona Chapter of the Navy League, Automotive Service Industry Association, and Altoona Chapter, Horseshoe Chorus SPEBSQSA.

He is married to the former Marlene M. Robinette '62.

Training Sessions Prepare Alumni for Admissions Program

This year's alumni admissions program is well underway, according to Marsha L. Kyper, assistant director of admission, who reports that 10 alumni participated in the August training sessions.

"Although the program is moving ahead," Mrs. Kyper said, "we still need more volunteers. Additional training workshops will be held on campus in the spring, and for those who can't make it to campus, sessions will be held in other key areas."

So far, 105 telephone logs have been distributed, with 703 phone calls to be completed by alumni who have already undergone some type of training program. In addition, 24 college nights will be covered by alumni representatives, according to Mrs. Kyper.

Those attending the August sessions were: Steve Barnett '62 of Downingtown, Jackie Beggs '48 of Princeton, N.J., Michael Busch '77 of Mechanicsburg, Janette DiGiacobbe '79 of Altoona, Catherine Fox '65 of Oaks, Robert Gundling '74 of Pottstown, Leon Kensinger '33 of Martinsburg, Barbara Maxfield '79 of New York, N.Y., Richard Paulhamus '70 of Glen Gardner, N.J. and Bruce Rossel '69 of Vincentown, N.J.

In "Psychology Today"

Food Linked to Self-Image, Prof. Says

The popular saying, "You are what you eat," is quite true, according to Dr. W. Jeffrey Burroughs' article in the October issue of "Psychology Today."

Burroughs, assistant professor of psychology at Juniata, and Dr. Edward Sadalla, associate professor of environmental psychology at Arizona State University, Tempe, have published their new study correlating eating preferences with how people see themselves and others see them.

In the article, "Profiles in Eating: Sexy Vegetarians and other diet-based social stereotypes," Burroughs and Sadalla discuss a series of experiments designed to determine whether food choices are linked to self-image, and to the way individuals are regarded by others.

The foods were divided into five categories: vegetarian, gourmet, health, fast and synthetic foods. An initial group of 500 individuals was asked to list foods associated with each category. "For example," Burroughs said, "typical vegetarian dishes included broccoli quiche and avocado sandwiches with bean sprouts. Gourmet foods identified included fresh oysters and lobster Newburg, while dried fruit and wheat germ were labeled typical health foods." Burroughs added that Whoppers and Big Macs were fast foods most commonly identified, and the synthetic food category included processed eggs, instant breakfast and Cheez Whiz.

Burroughs stated that these lists were then given to a second study group, who was asked to think of traits that described people who prefer such foods.

"We were initially surprised at the alacrity and confidence with which subjects paired food preferences with descriptions," Burroughs said. "If a person was said to like bean sprouts, for example, our subjects described him without hesitation as anti-nuclear power and pro-solar energy."

Along the same lines, fast-food lovers were seen as patriotic, conservative, pro-nuclear energy, and dressed in polyester suits, while vegetarians were described as pacifist, hypochondriacal, weight-conscious, liberal and likely to drive foreign cars.

"That first experiment was designed to assess the inferences people make about others based on food preferences," the professors wrote. "In a second experiment, we examined the extent to which inferences made about a person based on his or her eating preferences corresponded to that person's self-image." The results indicated the substantial agreement between the stereotypes and the self-descriptions.

Finally, a third experiment was conducted to determine the extent food preferences were related to objective measures of personality and lifestyle. "The data we obtained suggested a significant correlation both between food preferences and objective personality tests, and between food preferences and self-ratings of personality. In other words, the foods people prefer can, to some extent, be used to predict their personalities," the professors concluded in the article.

The personality portraits indicated that vegetarians were likely to be non-competitive, enjoy handicrafts and challenging, intellectual tasks. Health-food enthusiasts also saw themselves as non-competitive and intellectual, and added mechanically inclined and individualistic.

Gourmets tended to be atheist, liberal and live along. They also enjoyed fast living and glamour sports, while fast-food lovers enjoyed hard work, and considered themselves religious, conservative and family-oriented.

Those who preferred synthetic foods also tended to be conservative and home-oriented, and described themselves as competitive and practical.

Burroughs and Sadalla said that American food preferences may stem from linking certain foods with special attributes, such as red meat with status and sugar with self-reward. "Our study suggests that symbolism of foods must be taken into account in trying to get people to change their eating habits," they wrote.

In conclusion, Burroughs and Sadalla said that the experiments made a clear statement on eating habits and personalities. "The diner who orders Indonesian roast lamb and asparagus with hollandaise sauce, washing it down with '65 Bordeaux, is reinforcing his sense of self, and sending a message about himself to others."

Caultons are Honored by Founders Club

In recognition of their many years of dedicated service to Juniata, Cyrus and Isabelle Caulton '29 of Bryn Mawr, were honored during the annual Founders Club dinner Sept. 26.

Dr. Binder presented the Caultons with a painting of Founders Hall, a tradition which began in 1976 as the college marked its 100th year. "The Caultons have given so much of their time and energy to Juniata," Dr. Binder said. "We are forever grateful to them."

The Caulton's list of volunteer service is an extensive one. They served as co-chairman of the 1970-71 Annual Support Fund, and were active in both the Margin of Difference and the Centennial Development campaigns. They are currently members of the President's Development Council.

In addition, Cy has served as an alumni representative to the Board of Trustees, Alumni Association president, chairman of the Founders Club, president of the Philadelphia Area Alumni Club and a Class Fund Agent. Isabelle has been a member of the Alumni Council.

Their many efforts on Juniata's behalf were recognized in 1971 when the Caultons were presented with the prestigious Alumni Service Award.

The Caultons have also opened their home to Juniata students, alumni and friends for receptions and informal gatherings on numerous occasions.

Dr. Leland Miles '46

IAUP Names Leland Miles '46 President

Dr. Leland Miles '46, president of the University of Bridgeport, has been named president of the International Association of University Presidents (IAUP). Dr. Miles took office during the IAUP's triennial meeting, held in Costa Rica in July.

A native of Baltimore, Dr. Miles received his M.A. and Ph.D. degrees from the University of North Carolina, and began his teaching career in 1949 as professor of English at Hanover College. A year later, he was named chairman of the English department, and continued to serve there until 1960, when he joined the University of Cincinnati faculty.

From 1964-67, Dr. Miles was dean of the College of Arts and Sciences, University of Bridgeport. While there, he founded the Shakespeare Institute of Bridgeport-Stratford.

After serving seven years as president of Alfred University, Dr. Miles returned to the University of Bridgeport as president in 1974. In 1976, the Juniata National Alumni Association presented Dr. Miles with its prestigious Achievement Award.

Also in attendance at the Costa Rican meeting were Dr. Binder and the Rev. Dr. M. Andrew Murray, campus minister. Costa Rican President Rodrigo Carazo was the keynote speaker at the meeting, and Dr. Binder had an opportunity to discuss higher education with the President.

Board

At its meeting, the Board also proposed an 11.8 percent increase in the combined tuition, room and board fees at Juniata for the 1982-83 academic year. This $801 increase must be confirmed at the Board's Executive Committee meeting this winter before it is implemented.

"We have tried to keep this increase to a minimum," President Binder said, "but some increase is necessary due to rising costs." The president added that the proposed increase is lower than the 15 percent hike levied for the 1981-82 year.

Cyrus and Isabelle Caulton '29 of Bryn Mawr, were honored at this year's Founders Club dinner.

AROUND CAMPUS WITH FACULTY AND STAFF

■ Juniata began its 106th academic year with several new faculty members including H. CHRISTOPHER PETERSON '74, assistant professor of economics and business administration, and DR. EI-ICHIRO OCHIAI, associate professor of chemistry.

Two other distinguished men have joined the faculty for the 1981-82 academic year. DR. CRAIG BAXTER, an official with the U.S. State Department, is a visiting professor of political science and diplomat-in-residence, while DR. MEROLD WESTPHAL is this year's J. Omar Good Visiting Distinguished Professor of Evangelical Christianity.

■ New appointees to the administration include: DAVID A. GILDEA, college editor; NANCY K. LAW '82, admissions counselor; ANDREW K. FINNIE, sports information director and assistant in public relations; and DR. JAMES D. WESTWATER, assistant dean of academic affairs and registrar.

■ Administrators receiving promotions were MICHAEL B. SEXTON and DONNA L. SOPHER, named assistant directors of admissions. Both had been admissions counselors. ROBERT C. HOWDEN is the new director of public relations. He had been assistant director.

■ Promoted from instructor to assistant professor of education is JANET B. PHILLIPS.

■ PRESIDENT BINDER traveled to Yugoslavia in August to attend the 26th annual Conference on Education sponsored by Yugoslavia's universities, and held at the University of Zagreb in Dubrovnik. Dr. Binder, who is a member of the American Council on Education's U.S.-Yugoslav Committee on Inter-University Exchange, also met with Yugoslav university rectors to discuss methods of professorial and student exchanges.

In October, Dr. Binder was named to the Board of Directors of the York Academy of Arts in York. The academy, with approximately 300 students and a faculty of 21, offers college-level programs in commercial art, fine arts and interior design.

■ DR. ROBERT ZIMMERER, professor of biology, and DR. DOUGLAS GLAZIER, assistant professor of biology, conducted a workshop this summer on plant and animal ecology and environmental studies. The workshop was part of a program to help Huntingdon area teachers develop curricula for use with a new nature trail and natural area being constructed for use by the Huntingdon Area School District.

■ MARY RUTH LINTON '38, associate professor of music and department chairman, attended a symposium "L'Orgue a notre époque" at McGill University in Montreal recently. She also participated in a "Performance Workshop in French Music, 1680-1730," sponsored by the Academy of Early Music and the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor. As a harpsichordist, Mrs. Linton played in a student recital, and as a continuo player, accompanied sections of the final concert in the University of Michigan Art Museum.

■ It was a busy summer for JACK G. TROY, assistant professor of art, who attended the annual meeting of the National Council for Education in the Ceramic Arts as a panelist discussing "Contemporary Attitudes Towards Salt Glazing." He also taught workshops at St. Louis Community College (where he also has an exhibit of his work), and Southern Illinois University.

Troy's other summer activities included artist-in-residence at the University of Southern California's Idylwild School of Music and the Arts, and lecturer at the Mendocino (Calif.) Art Center.

In addition, Troy was one of five American potters invited to exhibit salt-glazed ceramics at the White Bird Gallery in Canon Beach, Ore., and one of his wood-fired bottles has been accepted for the national exhibition "Vessels Aesthetic," at Taft College and the Downey Museum of Art in California. Of the 841 entries, only 71 pieces were accepted for the exhibition.

■ DIANE W. GOLD, instructional assistant in music, performed at Carnegie Recital Hall in New York as part of a concert by students, affiliates and faculty of Bucknell University, where she also teaches.

During the summer, Mrs. Gold also toured through Maine as a member of the Huntingdon Trio.

AROUND CAMPUS WITH STUDENTS

■ The new student government officers for 1981-82 have taken their seats and are hard at work under the leadership of President DON A. DeARMITT '82 of Stoystown. Serving with him is Vice President JOHN SEYMOUR '82 of Ebensburg; Treasurer KELLY J. WALASIK of Aliquippa; and Secretary KARYN L. CABLE '84 of Schuylkill Haven.

This year's dorm senators are: DANIEL T. ROBERTS '82 of Ebensburg; RORY A. McAVOY '84 of Clarks Summit; PAULA S. WHETSTONE '83 of Martinsburg; LAURA A. BABIASH '84 of Malvern; A. KEITH FOX '84 of Hagerstown, Md.; LINDA A. FULTZ '84 of Lewistown; DANIEL M. JENDRZEJEWSKI '82 of Natrona; GREGORY A. KIMBLE '84 of Tyrone; ERIC D. PRUTSMAN '84 of Troy; CHRISTOPHER A. SPEECE '83 of West Reading; and LENORA D. GOLAMIS '83 of Williamsport.

■ Twenty-seven members of this year's freshman class have been designated "prestige scholars" for 1981-82, and were awarded Richard M. Simpson, Brumbaugh-Ellis Presidential, or Alumni Annual Support Fund scholarships.

This year's Simpson Scholarship was presented to JULIE A. BUCKLEY of Doylestown.

The 16 freshmen awarded Alumni Annual Support Fund Scholarships are: LISA A. ADAMS of Altoona, JOHN S. BURR of Loysburg, SCOTT D. CHAFFEE of Sayre, DAVID A. DUNCAN of Boswell, KATHLEEN M. FANTAU of Aston, JODIE O. GUARNERE of Aston, RICKEE A. HOFFNER of Shermans Dale, PATRICIA A. KIRKSEY of Wyckoff, N.J., KIMBERLY A. KOLONICH of Hooversville, DIANE L. McKINNEY of Ellwood City, DEBORAH L. MAUE of Shamokin, JOHN G. NEWELL of Pittsburgh, MARK A. ROYER of Elgin, Ill., SCOTT A. SAUERWINE of Pen Argyl, KRISTINE L. VAN HORN of Phoenixville and KEVIN M. WELCH of Centre Hall.

AND VISITORS, TOO

■ DR. CHAD WALSH, J. Omar Good Visiting Distinguished Professor of Evangelical Christianity at Juniata in 1977-78, returned to campus Oct. 19 to give a poetry reading in Shoemaker Galleries. Since leaving Juniata, Dr. Walsh, an Episcopal priest, has been a visiting professor of Calvin and Roanoke colleges, and will be a visiting professor in Finland next spring.

While visiting the college, Dr. Walsh was honored at an author's party at The Book Store in Huntingdon, and was interviewed on WHUN radio by Dr. Esther M. Doyle, professor of English, emerita.

■ Shoemaker Galleries housed an exhibit of paintings and photographs by DAVID RUBELLO during October. Rubello, who has studied in Rome and Denmark, currently works in New York. He has taught at the University of Michigan, Penn State University and Towson State University.

■ DR. MARK A. NOLL, associate professor of history and church history at Wheaton (Ill.) College, was on campus Sept. 30 to present a lecture on "The Image of the United States as a Biblical Nation from the Revolution to the Civil War." Dr. Noll's talk was part of the J. Omar Good Lecture Series. The author of several books and articles, Dr. Noll's latest book, "A Handbook to the History of Christianity in America," is due out in 1982.

■ The smash Broadway musical comedy PIPPIN was presented at Juniata on Sept. 28, as part of Daedalus Production's national tour. The play, which ran in New York for four and a half years, was one of the longest running musicals in Broadway history, and won five coveted Tony Awards.

Indians Excel in First Half of Season

The 1981 Juniata fall sports season is almost half over and several of the teams have moved into positions of prominence. The football team is currently in first place in the MAC North standings while the volleyball team is maintaining a national ranking. The soccer squad is in the thick of the MAC race for the first time in its history while the women's cross country team is undefeated.

Let's review the action to date and the coming attractions.

FOOTBALL (2-1-1)

The 1981 Indian football season began on a shaky note but has been improving with each game. Second year coach Rob Ash has brought together 25 letter veterans, 17 of them starters, and a number of talented freshmen to build this year's edition of the Juniata gridders.

At the start of the season, the Tribe figured to be the underdogs in their first few games. The season opener was a home contest against NCAA Division III semi-finalist Widener College. The Pioneers dominated but Juniata remained in the game until the very end. A few key turnovers by the Indian offense prevented Juniata from scoring more than 13 points. The final was 37-13 for Widener.

On Homecoming Day, Juniata met the Western Maryland Green Terrors. This time, the Indians controlled the game and were leading 13-0 going into the fourth quarter. However, a momentary lapse allowed the Terrors to score 21 points in the final stanza to take a temporary lead. It remained for Jeff Miles '82 to romp 99 yards on a kickoff return and Eric Biddle '82 to score the two-point conversion to end the game in a 21-21 tie.

The following Saturday, Juniata faced its most important game of the season. Delaware Valley was the defending MAC North champions and had just come off an impressive 45-14 victory over Upsala. The game, however, belonged to the Tribe as they conquered the Aggies, 10-0. Defense was the name of this game as Tom Devine '82 singlehandedly stopped Del Valley's Mark Tankersley. Tankersley had been averaging almost 150 yards receiving before the game. Devine held him to just nine yards on the day. In addition, the Monroeville defensive back nabbed three Aggie passes to tie the school record for interceptions. The victory vaulted Juniata into first place in the MAC North standings.

The most recent game, as of this writing, was played at FDU-Madison where the Tribe annihilated the Jersey Devils '47-7 to maintain a hold on first place.

"I'm pleased with our progress," Indian head coach Rob Ash says of the season so far. "The victory over Delaware Valley was the biggest since I've been at Juniata. It puts us among the top teams in the MAC. As far as leading the league goes, that's totally secondary at this point. Of course, it's nice to be in first place but after only four games, it's too early to give anyone the championship. We have to approach the rest of the season game by game. Any of our remaining opponents can beat us. Our goal will be to win each week and not think about the championship."

The brightest spot for the football squad this season has been the defensive unit, led by seniors Mike Ford, Matt Blauch and Tom Devine. After four games, the defense has been averaging 46 tackles a game. Ford and junior Tom McVay '83 lead the defense with 30 tackles each. Devine has eight interceptions as of this writing and leads the nation (all divisions NCAA). He was voted to the ECAC Division III Honor Roll for the weekend of October 2-3.

Running back/defensive back Jeff Miles continues his heroics. Besides the 99 yard kickoff return against Western Maryland, he has continued his two-way play, run back a few punts and otherwise provided enthusiasm and leadership for the team. Running back Rick Eberly '83 is pacing the ball carriers with 188 yards on 32 carries.

The remaining five games on the schedule will all be difficult contests. Wilkes, while currently sporting an 0-4 record, can sneak up on its opponents, while Albright and Lycoming are always tough opponents. The last two will be away games. JC's final two games will be at home against Susquehanna and Senior quarterback Mike Nett looks to hand-off to running back Tom Bell in the Homecoming game against Western Maryland.

Upsala. The Crusaders are currently 2-1 in the league and are off to their best start in several seasons.

An MAC North title is a possibility. But as Coach Ash says, the team must not think about that now. The Tribe will have to prepare for the games one at a time. One thing is certain. The players will give it everything they've got.

VOLLEYBALL (17-2)

The Juniata volleyball team has probably been the most impressive of the fall sports teams. Having lost only two matches so far, the Indian spikers find themselves the number two team in the nation after the University of California-San Diego. At one point, the team had won 13 straight matches and 29 straight games.

The squad opened the season with a 3-0 trouncing of Susquehanna. Following that contest, the team traveled to Wheeling College for an invitational tournament against several of the area's schools. Juniata won this tournament without losing either a match or a game.

Following this convincing performance, the Indians returned to Memorial Gym and proceeded to overwhelm Dickinson 15-2/15-3/15-7. That weekend, the Tribe played host to the first annual Juniata Volleyball Classic. The spikers sailed undefeated through the first round but got a little complacent and lost their first game and match to Gallaudet College of Washington, DC. JC recovered to defeat Division III power Grove City in the quarter-finals but expended so much energy and emotion, the girls could not come back against their semi-final opponent Indiana, PA. They lost the semi-final match in two straight games.

However, the girls did not let down. "I really feel the two losses will actually help us," coach Larry Bock said. "We'd rather lose now because it was going to happen sooner or later. By getting used to a defeat, it will prepare us to work harder for our later games."

And Coach Bock's comment has so far been true. Since the tournament loss the team has won three straight matches over Gettysburg, York and St. Francis and has not lost a game.

Setter Claudia Tweardy '83, who is this year's captain, has been instrumental in the team's success as have Eka Opanayikul '85 and Sue MacLachlan '83. Strong serving by all three plus team play by all the girls have put Juniata on course for post season action.

FIELD HOCKEY (2-4)

The Field Hockey squad started out strongly but in recent outings has not played up to its potential and has lost three straight. However, because many of these early games were non-league contests, the Indians find themselves with a 1-1 league mark and in second place.

The stickers opened the season with a 1-0 victory over Western Maryland. Inner Patty Price '84 scored the goal on an assist from Nancy Fieldman '84.

The Tribe was overwhelmed in its next game 5-1 by Frostburg State. However, the girls bounced back with a strong performance against Wilson College. The score was 3-1. Juniata goals were scored by Patty Price (2) and Margie Guerrini '84. Wilson did not take a shot in the first period as the Indian defense proved to be tough.

However, since that win, the Indians have lost three straight games. JC was defeated by Messiah 3-1, Gettysburg 5-0 and upset by Lycoming 2-1.

Coach Nancy Latimore notes, "We're not playing up to our potential right now. We're not executing; not tackling well. It's something we'll have to work on for the second half of the season."

With four games left in the season, Juniata is out of the running for a post season MAC bid because Gettysburg has already clinched the MAC Southwest title with a perfect 3-0 record. However, the Indians will be aiming at a winning season. A home match with Lycoming followed by games with Dickinson, Shippensburg State and Susquehanna will close out the 1981 season.

SOCCER (4-2)

Coach Klaus Jaeger's booters are the surprise Juniata team of the fall sports campaign. Prior to this season, the squad had never won a single varsity game. But that's all in the past as the kickers currently sport one of the best records in the MAC. However, because of the MAC playoff structure, the Indians have only an outside chance of advancing to post season play. Still, even if a playoff berth doesn't come, this season has to go down as the most successful in team history.

& PARENTS WEEKEND, TOO

It was the parents' turn to visit campus Oct. 17-18, and a variety of activities were scheduled, including (clockwise from top right) the "Artists on the Hill" show and sale; a Coffee House featuring campus minister Andy Murray and his wife Terry; a foreign studies discussion with students, faculty and parents; and the annual Parents Association Breakfast, featuring remarks by association co-chairman Jon A. Ford (pictured), Dr. Binder and John T. Murphy, chairman of the Parents' Campaign for the Sports+Recreation Center. Photos by Eric Ober '84.

The only game Juniata was truly out of from the start was the team's first of the season with Elizabethtown. E-town won this tilt 7-0. Because of this loss, Juniata would have to win all of its remaining MAC games while Elizabethtown would have to lose at least two games for JC to get an MAC berth.

After that first defeat, things completely turned around. On Sept. 26, the soccer team won its first-ever match, 1-0, against Lycoming. The victory was even sweeter because the game was played as part of the Homecoming Weekend activities. Coach Jaeger said after the game, "I'm delighted! It's history! Our players showed poise and composure, keeping to their positions and defending well."

Two more impressive victories followed over Lebanon Valley (4-2) and Wilkes (4-0). A defeat at the hands of Messiah only served to stiffen the Indians resolve. In its most recent game, the Tribe won a close contest 4-3 over York College. Midfielder Brian Bullock '83 has been the leader on the field this season along with Chris Doran '84 and Robert Morand '82.

Summing up the season so far, Coach Jaeger says, "I am very pleased with our success this year. For the first time our team is capable of defeating most of our opponents. We've stayed close with powerful teams like Messiah and have dominated some games for the first time. I'm very optimistic about the future."

WOMEN'S CROSS COUNTRY (4-0)

The women harriers sport a perfect undefeated season as of this writing. Coach Bill Latimore's charges started the season with a sixth place finish in the Lebanon Valley Invitational Meet. Chris Schleiden '85 placed the Indians with a time of 20:47, finishing in 21st place.

The squad opened its regular season on Sept. 19 with a narrow win over Gettysburg, 29-30, and a convincing 19-44 triumph over Messiah. Once again Chris Schleiden was the leading Juniata runner with a time of 20:13 over the 5,000 meter course.

After a three week layoff, the women returned to action on Oct. 7 with a victory over Shippensburg 23-38. Chris Schleiden turned in the fastest Indian time for a third time with a mark of 20:50. Right behind her was Angie Spickler '85 with a 20:55 time.

Spickler turned in the fastest JC time at the squad's most recent race; a 22:03 mark which led Juniata to a 26-31 win over Franklin & Marshall. Coach Latimore said after the race, "This was an excellent race and a good victory for us. It will help us tremendously, giving us momentum, for our next meet. Overall, it is one of the best jobs we've done this year."

Within a short time, the MAC Cross Country meet will take place and Juniata is expected to field a strong women's entry. Three meets are left on the JC schedule before the Women's MACs on Nov. 7.

MEN'S CROSS COUNTRY (1-3)

Unlike their female counterparts, the men harriers have gotten off to a disappointing start. First year coach Bill Shuler, a JC standout on last year's squad, feels the Indian runners have potential but are not able to capitalize at the right time.

The squad opened the season at the Lebanon Valley Invitational by finishing 13th out of 15 schools competing. Mike Murray '83 paced the Indians with a 29:22 time over the 8,000 meter course, good for 87th place.

The Tribe's first contest of the season was a triangular meet with Gettysburg and Messiah. Both matches were lost; 15-50 to Gettysburg and 22-33 to Messiah. Mike Murray once again paced the Tribe with a 28:23 mark. Greg Kidd '82 was the second Juniata to cross the finish line with a 28:33 time.

The Indians only win of the season so far was against Albright, 26-31. Although Albright's Frank Mirecki won the race in 28:16, JC runners took third through six places to notch the victory. Third spot went to Mike Murray (29:45), fourth to Greg Kidd (29:47), fifth to Mark Royer '85 (29:49) and sixth went to Andy Pearson '83 (29:59). Tony Caldarelli '82 (30:48) rounded out the Tribe scorers.

The most recent race was against Susquehanna. The Crusaders completely dominated the meet, defeating JC 15-42. SU took the first five places while Mike Murray (30:28) was Juniata's runner across the finish line.

"Although we're off to a slow start," coach Shuler says, "we will be ready for the MAC meet and could surprise a few people. Until then, we'll concentrate on the remaining three meets of the season."

The men's MAC Cross Country meet is scheduled for Nov. 7.

Hoop Squads Prepare for 1981-82 Campaign

Although the fall sports teams are only half way through their schedules, winter is coming and with that in mind, Juniata's two basketball teams will soon begin pre-season workouts. Women's coach Nancy Latimore is optimistic her charges can bounce back from a disappointing season and return to the form that sent the 1979-80 team into the national playoffs. Men's coach Dan Helm will be starting his first year after having served as assistant basketball coach last season. He'll be looking to improve on last season's dismal 6-16 record.

1981-82 WOMEN'S OUTLOOK

Fifth year head coach Nancy Latimore will welcome back 11 letterwomen from last year's disappointing 10-11 team.

"We were all disappointed in our play last season," Latimore says. "The girls were feeling some pressure last year, but that will not exist this season, so the girls should play more relaxed, and be more effective."

The biggest question mark is finding a replacement for All-MAC forward Julie George who was last season's leading scorer and rebounder. George was a proven double-figure scorer during her Juniata career.

Leading replacements in the front court are 5-5 junior Judy Pepoy who was second in scoring (9.1) and fourth in rebounding (4.7), 5-10 sophomore Marie Glendenning who was second in rebounding (7.6), and 5-9 sophomore Meg Stover (5.0 scoring/7.0 rebounding). Newcomers Patricia Ryan, a 5-8 forward standout from Philadelphia and Melissa Luciano, 5-10 center from Altoona will push for starting spots.

Junior guards Aimee Brua and Nancy Roach will be the leading candidates for backcourt sports. Sophomore Michele Wengryn, who turned in an excellent freshman campaign, will also provide experience. The 5-5 guard averaged 5.9 points and 2.4 rebounds in her initial season. Two freshmen are expected to make a run for positions on the team. Holly Crable, a 5-5 guard from Avon Grove, led her high school team to the district playoffs last year. Cheryl Hagenbarth, a 5-3 guard from Vineland, N.J., is a former all-conference pick.

"We'll miss Julie George's presence but I'm confident we can find an able replacement for her," Latimore says. "With 11 experienced players returning, and the addition of some very talented freshmen, we have the capability to be good. A lot of factors will determine just how good we will be. If things work out, we should have an excellent season."

1981-82 MEN'S OUTLOOK

First-year head coach Dan Helm will welcome back six letterman from last year's 6-16 team, as he attempts to reverse the losing trend of recent Indian cage squads.

Helm will depend largely upon 6-6 forward Joe Chuba, the Tribe's scoring (10.4) and rebounder leader (8.2) last season. The entrance of 6-7, 220-pound Mark Rucinski, will allow Chuba to move to forward, his natural position. Rucinski, a transfer from Mercyhurst, had an outstanding high school career and retains four years of eligibility, having sat out last season.

A pair of letterwinners, 6-3 junior Andy Witmer and 6-4 sophomore John Voler, will battle for the other starting slot up front, while 6-6 yearlings John West and Ralph Hendershot will push for playing time, as will 6-6 sophomore Jeff Weeks.

Sophomore Dan Feruck, second in scoring last year with a 10.0 average, returns in the backcourt, where a fierce battle is expected. Scott Lehigh, a 6-1 senior, started several games last season, but will be pushed by 6-2 junior Lee Hudzicki — the leading scorer on the jayvee squad — and senior newcomer Jack Lantz.

Sophomore Chris Ortyl, who sat out last season, and classmate Paul Kardish will also see plenty of action.

"We'll be fairly quick in the backcourt," says Helm, a former player and coach on the Belgian professional circuit, "so we hope to fastbreak more often this season."

Helm had hoped to implement a man-to-man defense this campaign, but the size of his front line — the largest at Juniata in recent seasons — may force him to use a zone.

"We have some fine talent on hand," notes Helm. "With our returning players and several talented newcomers, I expect us to be an improved team this season."

Both teams' first games will be played shortly after the Thanksgiving Break so hoop season is just around the corner.

FROM THE DIRECTOR

David A. Kreider '71
Director of Alumni Affairs

Record participation was the order of the day as Juniata began the alumni year at Jane and Joe Good's summer home in New Enterprise. The Blair/Bedford and Huntingdon Area Alumni Clubs combined for the annual event which this year attracted some 115 alumni, children, and friends. Special thanks to Daniel B. Hoover '70, president of the Blair/Bedford Alumni Club for his efforts in planning and promoting this event.

The Kishacoquillas Alumni Club under the leadership of E. Frederick '68 and Susan Parsons Witmer '69 had a summer picnic at Greenwood Furnace. The turnout was especially nice with participants ranging from the classes of 1958 to somewhere around 1998.

At their annual fall meeting, the Alumni Council identified some very specific objectives for the 1981-82 academic year. Under the leadership of Robert D. Sill '59, president of the National Alumni Association, the Council will work very diligently to successfully accomplish their objectives.

In addition to solid Alumni Club programming, the Alumni Council will provide leadership in the areas of Admissions and Career Planning and Placement. One other area in which the Council will be involved in the 1981-82 academic year is Reunion Weekend which this year will not be held in conjunction with Commencement.

Dates to remember:

500 Alumni Enjoy Western Homecoming

The "Wild, Wild West" was recreated for this year's Homecoming, Sept. 26, as more than 500 alumni returned to campus to participate in the festivities.

The western "spirit" began Friday night with a bonfire near Langdon Field, and carried over to Saturday morning's Homecoming Parade. Grand Marshall David A. Kreider '71, director of alumni affairs, led the procession which included floats and bands from Juniata and the Huntingdon community.

Constance L. Kilroy '82 of Huntsville, Ala. was crowned Homecoming Queen this year. The members of her Court were Kathleen M. Crowley '85 of Ebensburg, Patricia A. Price '84 of Lancaster, Loretta A. Chuba '83 of Johnstown and Kelly J. Walasik '82 of Aliquippa.

President Binder crowned the Queen and her Court during halftime ceremonies at the Homecoming football game with Western Maryland. The game ended in a 10-10 tie.

Post-game activities included an Alumni Association hospitality tent at the construction site of the new Sports+Recreation Center. Those who stopped by were greeted by Robert D. Sill '59, association president. President Binder was also on hand to present an update on the Sports+Recreation Center project.

The Homecoming activities concluded with Saturday night's dance/concert by Bob Doyle and the Allegheny String Band, and a square dance exhibition by the Raystown Country Swingers.

(Homecoming activities have also been captured in photographs appearing elsewhere in this issue.)

Construction of Juniata's $4.5 million Sports+Recreation Center is on schedule. The steel skeleton is in place, and to date, more than $2.25 million has been raised for the project.

Janet Kauffman '67 Uses Poetry to Share Her Experiences

The Weather Book, Janet Kauffman '67, Texas Tech Press, 1981 ($4.95 paper, $9.95 cloth), an Associated Writing Program Award Series Selection.

Janet Kauffman says in the first poem, "Beginning of the Book," "At first it was not out of love/I wrote, I thought; but at last/I'm sending the book of weathers/charted through winters. I still keep track." The Weather Book, Janet's first collection of poetry, has just been published as an Award Series Selection by the Associated Writing Programs and Texas Tech Press; a 1967 Juniata graduate (with a University of Chicago Ph.D. in English), she has had wide acceptance of her poetry in leading magazines.

The two most powerful backgrounds for her poetry are the farm and her experiences "Hitching the Americas," both giving her ideas, images, and a closeness to the land and people. For instance, here is a delicious little poem:

Appetizer, for You
Chow chow
is a common German pickle,
a random mix of August, corn, and spice: the taste is plain,
as plain as life; the feel
upon the tongue is fancy, fickle.

The book has three sections: "Match" contains poems of the earth, the farm, her memories of her father's tobacco farm near Lancaster, her present farm in Michigan; "Hitching the Americas" is a nine section poem which explores contrasts, contradictions, and affirmations in her trip through Latin America — a

Mennonite Volunteer Service cousin, a brutal murder, insects "worse than sniper fire"; "Rally," the final section, continues the two earlier approaches, a counterpoint of travel and the land: "I want to show you a hill/that shifts with winds/only the flected rocks holding/fields as farm." (from "Postcard: The Hill") One poem, "Penelope Unwinding," I find goes back to her Juniata "Great Epochs" days for sources, Penelope saying to Telemachus, "Oh we are favored/with time."

Her poems chart her past and her future, a past both evocative and pastoral but also at times brutal and a future where, perhaps, "The Light Has Changed." These two views come together in the last poems in the book, particularly in "Driving." "In October rains, frogs out of ditches/fly to a hundred deaths on Wetherby Road," the poem begins, and turtles cross the road in the spring:

I head down the road at these times through their flood, their amphibious planet, while nerves in my wrists and ankles pulse, hold the wheel, ride the throttle, the clutch. I will get through this place, drive straight home, no trouble.

I hope Janet continues driving. I find her poems evocative and moving; she speaks of a farmer as "another traveler through the dry winds of space." We are all travelers and voices like hers are at least postcards from another: "Orchards, fields, these lines."

Owens-Corning Supports Juniata

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following story appeared in the May issue of Dialog, the Owens-Corning corporate news publication. Portions are used here with the permission of editor Roberta Pei.

Debbie Garner '77 might not have graduated with a business degree from Juniata College if alumni hadn't contributed money used for her scholarship.

That's why Debbie, a cost analyst at Owens-Corning's Jackson, Tenn. plant, gives dollars to her alma mater — to say thanks for the support. And because she donates through Owens-Corning's Gift Matching Plan, the company matches her contribution doubling the value of her gift.

"It's my turn, now," says Debbie, who is one of a number of employees participating in Owens-Corning's plan. "I'm glad to help the college obtain money needed to provide students with high-quality education, to fund special programs for faculty and to improve facilities."

But Juniata isn't the only beneficiary of the Gift Matching Plan. Because the college is located just five blocks from Owens-Corning's Huntingdon plant, company employees benefit from Juniata educational programs.

Each year, several Juniata seniors work on special projects at the plant.

Thirty employees now working with the company — including Debbie — attended Juniata and began their careers at the Huntingdon/Mt. Union Owens-Corning plants.

In addition, a number of plant employees currently are enrolled at the college, taking courses through Owens-Corning's Educational Refund Plan to develop job skills. Employees and their families also take advantage of cultural, academic and athletic activities offered at Juniata.

"With inflation taking a bite out of our budget, we're relying more and more on the generosity of loyal alumni," says Foster G. Ulrich, Jr., vice president for development. "We're especially fortunate to get additional support from Owens-Corning."

Juniata is among many educational institutions nationwide receiving help from Owens-Corning.

In 1980, the company's gift matching contributions increased almost 75 percent from 1977. The number of employees participating in the plan has risen too — more than 53 percent over the same period.

Twice each year — on January 1 and July 1 — Owens-Corning donates amounts equal to the employees' contributions. Gifts range from $10 to the maximum of $2,000 per employee per year.

Debbie Garner '77, is proud of Juniata College and Owens-Corning. She supports her alma mater through Owens-Corning's Gift Matching Plan.
